Subject: Re: Abstract of your work

Dear Ms. Pushnaia,

Thank you so much for your message and for the abstract of your work! I have read it with great interest, because - as you state in your paper - global thinking is getting more and more important and because education, of course, is of vital importance in that development. On the basis of the abstract it is rather difficult to evaluate the whole work, but I find it valuable that you both link your work to the theoretical literature and carry out an empirical experimental investigation. Another important feature in your study is the attention to the integration of curricular and extracurricular activities. And it is of course vitally important that you take into account the age levels' impact on the formation of global thinking.

Yours sincerely,

Dr.Unto Vesa
