FIFTY FEET AND FALLING

Poignant,
funny, moving,
inspirational ...

Based on his actual diaries, 'Fifty Feet and Falling' is a one man play about the life and death of a friend of Shoestring theatre company who committed suicide.

Previous Audiences said;

"Fantastic Play ... I could really relate to it ... very moved by it ... Very powerful and moving, very intense, brilliantly acted... Inspirational ... the performance was riveting. The pace almost breathless - the conclusion left me stunned."

This Shoestring theatre production is brought to London by local group Mental Fight Club as part of their 'The Play's The Thing' project. The project aims to help SLaM NHS Trust develop and improve suicide prevention services in the area. There will be an optional discussion session after each performance in which you will be invited to give your thoughts on the play and on the subject.

Dedicated to the memory of Terry Jenkins.
