

A FEW FACTS

- VOICES, Inc. is incorporated as a non-profit organization. It zealously guards that status.
- It advocates for injured workers and educates the Florida legislature by promoting email, telephone, federal mail and personal contact with lawmakers throughout the year.
- It makes its expertise available at governmental commission meetings, legislative hearings, press conferences, and media appearances.
- It makes no recommendations on candidates but rather helps its members to make their own informed decisions by collecting and disseminating unbiased, pertinent information about issues and candidates.
- It maintains as personal a connection as possible with thousands of members who are suffering and maltreated by the Workers Compensation system.

for Injured Workers in Florida

What Is VOICES, Inc.?

VOICES, Inc. was started in 1993 by Beverly Haire, herself an injured worker. She had suffered the abuses of the workers compensation system in Florida and was determined to do what she could to correct the system.

What VOICES, Inc.
is all about

She, then Kevin Anderson, served as head of the organization until 1999 when Mary Bailey became president. Mary still serves in this office.

Under Mary's direction and with the support of other groups, VOICES, Inc. has gone from a organization that was largely unknown by legislators to an organization that is known, respected and expected by legislators in Florida.

The Academy of Florida Trial Lawyers gave VOICES, Inc. an award recognizing the organization as one of the premier advocacy groups for workers' rights in Florida for the 2002 legislative session.

Rev. 04/24/04

VOICES Inc. is a non-profit organization made up of injured workers and their supporters.

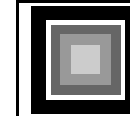

The organization offers the following services to injured workers:

1. Educates injured workers on how to navigate the workers compensation system as successfully as possible under the Florida statutes.
2. Provides access to a free, online support group for injured workers and their families, where injured workers share their fears and their experiences in an atmosphere that is supportive of injured workers' needs.
3. Provides online assistance through its website.
4. Provides a free, statewide referral service to attorneys who are workers compensation specialists.
5. Educates injured workers about their rights under Chapter 440 of the Florida statutes.
6. Updates injured workers on new workers compensation laws as they come into effect.
7. Assists injured workers in understanding and participating in the legislative process.
8. Educates lawmakers about the needs of injured workers.
9. Empowers injured workers and helps build back their self-respect.
