More Info:

SonicFlood, as many will agree, helped change the way we think of modern worship songs. They have gone through a lot of change, and in fact none of the four original band members in 1999 are even with the band anymore. But, since they continue to focus on the future, they will be one of the most popular Christian Rock bands for years to come.

Quote from the band:

"We're just a group of musicians that God has called to sing and write music that edifies the church."
