Dear Sir,

After the grand success of ELEGANCE OF IBSEN in collaboration with the Royal Norwegian Embassy in November 2006 and performance of our maiden Hindi venture Hari Bhari Khwahish (translation of Upashalya, written and directed by Torit Mitra) in August and December, 2007 at L.T.G., we have decided to stage another Hindi play, titled Na Hanayaté, in the month of April 2008 for two nights, the Hindi translation of its much acclaimed Bengali play Hanayaman, dedicated to the 150th year of Indian Independence Movement. We find it our pleasure as well as a responsibility to commemorate the sacrifices of the unsung heroes and also raise a pertinent question to our society about violence and non-violence, especially to the youth who may have lost the focus to the philosophy of tolerance. We hope to give them a choice for a better future for themselves and for the world.

You will appreciate that each production involves great financial implication and thus we have decided to bring out 1000 copies of brochures for free distribution to the audience on each occasion.

We are looking forward help from our valued patrons, without which the project would remain a distant dream.

The TARIFF of the advertisements is as under:
