Army Selection Judging Sheet

Judges Discretion: The player may gain or lose up to 10 points depending on the opinions of the judges. Points can be earned by creating a balanced army list that takes history and background into consideration. Units or war machines rarely played with can also reward players for originality as well as unique army lists (though they must still conform to the background and make sense as to something that would appear on the battlefields of Warhammer!). Points can be taken away for the creation of nasty combos and army lists that deliberately find loopholes in the rules and army books.
