Introduction

This is the fourth and final volume of Notes of Ingonish and Its People. These Notes of Ingonish and Its People were originally a number of large scrapbooks. These scrapbooks are located in the Archives Room at the Cabot High School in Neil's Harbour. They contain newspaper articles about Ingonish that were written and collected by Mary Helen Doucette.

I have transcribed these articles and indexed the books so looking for a certain name would be much easier. The original clippings contained the month and day of the article, I have added and underlined the year to each of the articles as they appeared in the scrapbooks. Most of the articles had a title, the titles, punctuation and spelling were transcribed as they appeared in the scrapbooks.

I hope you will enjoy reading these notes of Ingonish and its people. If you would like more information on the families of Ingonish, or would like to add your information to the bank of information I have gathered, I would appreciate hearing from you.

A special word of thanks to Mrs. Barbara Martel, Lark Szick and Mrs. Louise Brewer who helped in the transcribing of these articles.

Being 3000 yards from shore and badly shaken up, they surely would have drowned had it not been for the quick action of Earle Donovan, Skipper of "The Happy Wanderer," who sighted them as he was coming in the Harbor. He rushed to their rescue, had them taken aboard his boat and brought ashore.

Later what was left of the thirty foot fishing craft was towed to the wharf by Tommie Young. The engine was about all that was left of any value.

Mr. Donovan who rescued the two men, runs a Tourist boat, "The Happy Wanderer," during the summer and much credit is due him for his quick work in saving the men.

Two Year Old Jeanie Doyle Cape Breton Girl Presumed Drowned in Clyburn River

INGONISH BEACH, May 16, 1967.

No trace has been found of two-year-old Jeanie Doyle who wandered away from her home last Thursday and is presumed to have drowned in the Clyburn River.

The missing child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Doyle of Ingonish Beach - the second youngest of eight children. Her home was close to the banks of the river and tracks in the snow indicated the child fell over the bank and into the water. Mrs. Emerson was hanging out washing at the time.

Cape Breton Highlands National Park employees, neighbors and members of the RCMP searched the river throughout the day Thursday and on Friday but found no trace of the missing girl. The waters of the river were combed with boats and two divers assisted in the search.

The river was swollen by the melting snows and rainfall making the river much deeper than normal. Nets were placed at the mouth of the river but there is little hope that the body will be recovered due to the strong tide.

The child's mother is the former Mildred Robinson of Ingonish Beach and the father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doyle.

Dunvegan Native

To Honor Retired Priest At Big Pond Centennial Week

BIG POND, July 27, 1967,

When Reverend Stanley MacDonald observes the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood here on August 6 during the observance of a Centennial Week, attention will be drawn to another Canadian family which has contributed richly to church and country. The opening day of the Centennial week has been named "Father Stanley Day" in his honor.

Born in the small community of Dunvegan, his Scottish father Lewis MacDonald, was stipendiary for the town of Port Hood and magistrate for Inverness County. His French mother was Veronica Perry, whose father, Hon. S.F. Perry was speaker of the Prince Edward Island Legislature, federal member for Prince Edward Island and who signed the petition to the Queen bringing Prince Edward Island into Confederation; and whose mother was Margaret Carroll, a native of County Tipperary, Ireland.

This blend of racial lines based on a strong religious foundation formed a home in which the absence of wealth and modern conveniences was never considered a handicap, since their wealth was the home library and this lavishly served to nourish the intellectual appetites of all the children.

Contrast of Races

It was a home in which English, Gaelic and French was spoken, read and written. Veronica Perry, who had never heard Gaelic before her marriage became proficient in it's use by spoken or written word. Instead of being a divisive influence, this contrast of races in the one family gave the children the best of each of the cultures and fed the imagination of the budding students.

Included in the large family of ten boys and one daughter, besides Father MacDonald, were Angus L., former Premier of Nova Scotia and Federal Minister of National Defense for Naval Affairs in the last war; Sister Mairi, C.N.D., Ph.D., presently of the staff of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish; Sheriff James Francis, Port Hood; William A., Supreme Court Justice of Alberta; Sheriff John Lewis, Port Hood; Donald Lewis, Pictou; Oswin, Barrister, Port Hood; Joseph Austin, Detroit; and Colin who died on the battlefield of Arras in 1918.

Father MacDonald who is now living in retirement in St. Anthony's Home, Sydney, was for many years parish priest of Big Pond where the Centennial observation is to take place from August 6-12. It is significant that one evening of the Centennial Week will be devoted to the "Voices of Canada" Concert in which many different ethnic groups will participate.

Rev. John Kyte Honored On Golden Jubilee As Priest.

INGONISH BEACH, September 30, 1967,

One of our most beloved pastors who served the people of this St. Peter's Parish, from October 1927 to 1934 celebrated his 50th anniversary to the priesthood last Sunday at St. Joseph Parish, at Bras d'Or.

Rev. John Boyd Kyte is the son of the late Patrick Joseph Kyte and Anastasia Boyd of St. Peters and was born in Dartmouth on September 7, 1891.

As a young boy he received his elementary education at St. Peter's Academy, St. Peter's. In 1907, he entered St. Francis Xavier University. After his graduation he took a position with the Civil Service in Ottawa. In 1914 he entered Grand Seminary, Montreal, where he received his theological studies.

In December 1917 he was ordained to the Priesthood and said his first mass in his home town of St. Peters. Shortly after this he was appointed Assistant, this time to Stella Maris Parish Inverness, where he spent nine years serving the late Rev. Alex L. MacDonald P.P.

Although somewhat handicapped by not knowing the Gaelic language Father Kyte soon picked up enough Gaelic to distinguish between the words "The young priest" and "The old priest". Most of the time his interpreters were the late John Sandy MacLeod or the late Alex Lauchie MacIsaac.

Then came the year 1927, when Father Kyte had to say farewell to his Scottish friends and face the hinterland. In this year he was appointed Parish Priest of South Ingonish. In 1927 Ingonish was a far cry from being a Tourist resort as it is today. But to a young zealous priest, such as Father Kyte and to a native Ingonish it was then as it always shall be "The Garden of Eden".

For seven years Father Kyte worked day and night to bring about improvements in his church and among the people. Among his achievements was the establishing of the Co-operative Lobster Factory. Always he worked along and encouraged the fishermen.

Once again in 1934, he was called up to bid adieu to his Parishioners and take over as Pastor of "The Star of the Sea" Parish at Canso. There too, he worked unceasingly among his Parishioners until in 1950 he came to St. Joseph's Parish, Bras d'Or, where he still resides.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m., the curates and parishioners of St. Joseph's parish invited relatives, former parishioners and friends to attend the golden Jubilee of their pastor at the Concelebrated Mass in the Parish Church.

Assisting the Jubilarian at the Mass was his Excellency W.W. Powers, Bishop of Antigonish, along with four other priests. About 60 more clergy filled the middle aisle pews. From Antigonish, Canso, St. Peters, L'Ardoise, West Bay, Sydney and North of Cape Smokey, relatives, former parishioners and friends attended the Mass.

For this happy occasion, the Church had been newly painted with green carpet covering the floors. The steps leading up to the church were done in a cool grey with the doors of the church done in Maroon.

After Mass, all wended their way to the Parish Hall to celebrate and spend a few happy hours with Father Kyte.

The hall too had taken on a festive look. Streamers of white and gold along with flags in white and gold decorated its pillars.

A banquet had been prepared by the ladies of the Parish for their Beloved pastor. All tables were beautifully set. At the head table where the Jubilarian was seated, white Irish linen covered the table. Golden Candle sticks along with Autumn flowers also decorated the table. In the centre was a three layer cake. Also decorated with gold leaves topped with a miniature statue of the Sacred Heart.

Acting as toastmaster was Rev. John H. MacEachern, who introduced Albert Whitty who sang a Solo - "Father John Kyte You've A Wonderful Way with you". This was followed by a toast to Canada, Dr. Thomas Sullivan; a toast to the Parish - Rev. Jacob Andrea; a toast to the Jubilarian, - Rev. George Topshee.

In concluding the happy Jubilarian then spoke a few words, going over his past life and expressing his great happiness on this occasion.

Among the many attending were Rev. Joseph Daye, Sydney; Rev. George MacDonald, West Bay; Rev. Lloyd Dwyer, Sydney; Rev. George Topshee, Antigonish; Rev. John H. MacEachern, Sydney; Rev. Jacob Andrea, Sydney Mines; Josephine Kyte, Antigonish; Mr. and Mrs. Amos MacGean, L'Ardoise; Stella Boyd, St. Peters; Mr. and Mrs. M. 4,000 Acres

Blackened In Northern Part Of Island, Number Of Houses Burned

INGONISH BEACH, June 3, 1968,

A stubborn forest fire, has blackened more than 4,000 acres of woodland along Cape Breton's scenic Cabot Trail raged out of control again.

The blaze was considered well under control during the weekend after burning for five days but softwood stands six miles west of Wreck Cove "went up like a bomb" when winds increased Sunday evening.

"The situation was looking much better Sunday when a spark from the fire set everything off again," a lands and forests department spokesman said Monday.

He said four water-bombers and a helicopter helped to control the blaze during the weekend but two of the aircraft were fogged-in at Baddeck yesterday.

The helicopter is being used to ferry men to the scene of the fire in an inaccessible area.

"We have men and bulldozers waiting to get at the fire but we can't get to it," the spokesman said.

Bright sunny weather yesterday added to the problems of firefighters weary from almost a week of continuous battle against the stubborn flames.

Men Rescued

Sunday night 11 firemen were rescued from a pond after the new outbreak trapped them with their equipment. A helicopter was used to rescue the men from waist deep water where they sought refuge. Officials are assessing the loss in equipment which includes radios and hose.

The blaze, threatened Wreck Cove Sunday night but shifting winds altered the course of the fire.

The blaze which burned wildly late last week was all but out Saturday, taking with it five houses, a number of barns and other small buildings.

By Thursday night many of the 500 volunteer firefighters had returned to their homes leaving small skeleton crews who kept a watch for smoke on the the blaze which at one time was burning on five separate fronts.

Three of the biggest flareups came in the Wreck Cove area. After the fire was discovered Wednesday it cut a path of destruction eight miles long and three miles wide within 24 hours extending from Wreck Cove over Cape Smoky into the Ingonish Ferry area.

Winds of up to 40 MPH are blamed for the destruction of the fire, believed to have started from a fisherman's camp fire near the cove area.

The cause is under investigation by the RCMP.

Today Cape Smoky, the 1,200 foot mountain, is scared and black, and covered with a mass of skeletons of once green trees.

The mess quipped on observer to note that tourists won't be taking photos this summer

40 Families Evacuated

At the height of the blaze some 40 families had to be evacuated. They re-settled and then evacuated again before the danger was over.

Calls for assistance brought firefighters and trucks from as far away as Sydney, and in the area where the homes were destroyed volunteers managed to save most personal effects.

The bridge at the base of Cape Smoky was destroyed but has been replaced by a steel structure. Two water bombers were on the scene but they had relatively little effect on the raging blaze.

Telephone service to Ingonish was cut off Wednesday night, but has now been retored and electric power was disrupted slightly.

One man, recalling past fires in Nova Scotia said he was through the Pleasant Bay blaze of 1947, "but it wasn't anything like this," he said.

Old Houses Stood Up Well Despite Passage of Century

INGONISH May 1969,

Several weeks ago one of the oldest houses in Ingonish was demolished. It was formerly the home of the late Patrick Burke but since the past 30 years was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Simon Arsenault.

As a young man Patrick Burke immigrated here from Ireland. He married the late Mary Anne Donovan of Ingonish Harbor. Shortly after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Burke built their home high above the main road overlooking the Atlantic Ocean and the entrances to Ingonish Bay. That would be 100 years ago. The house was sturdily built, the frame being hand hewn beams held together with wooden pins which were also hand made. It was insulated with birch bark.

The Burkes were a very energetic and thrifty family. With a family of 10 coming up and owning all the land where the Parish Hall and Consolidated School now stands, they set about to get their living from the farm, along with fishing in between. At the age of 59, Mr. Burke passed away leaving five girls, (Jane) Mrs. Dave Williams, (Mary) Mrs. Turner, (Tena) Mrs. Vincent Williams, (Rita) Mrs. Neil Donovan and one girl deceased. The boys were John Willie, Tommie, Jerry, Pius O'Daniel, and Blowers. When Mr. Burke passed on, the home was left with Mrs. Burke and Blowers. Around 1936, Blowers Burke sold the house to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Arsenault who with their family resided in it up until several years ago, at which time they moved away from here. One of their sons, Simon

Joseph, after his marriage built his home close by. Now giving away to progress the old Burke home has been torn down.

Three Old Houses

Three other houses even older than the Burke house and still standing are Patrick Williams, Ingonish Beach; Big Donnie MacKinnon's at Ingonish Ferry and Mrs. Reginald Peters at Ingonish Centre. These homes are over 110 years old and were built about the same time. Patrick Williams' house was passed down from his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams who had a family of five boys - Frank, John, Charlie, Jim, Vincent and Dave. Three girls (Jane) Mrs. Isaac Hawley, (Elizabeth) Mrs. Colin Hawley and (Mary) Mrs. John Tim Donovan.

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams passed on the home was willed to their son Dave who married Ellen Jane Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Burke. They had a family of three boy Duncan, Patrick and one deceased. They also had one daughter (Mary) Mrs. Vincent Mickey.

Being a carpenter himself Mr. Williams kept his home well repaired. All material used in it was hand hewn. The builder of the house was the late Archie MacDonald of Sydney. The boards used were sawn by hand in a saw pit. It also was insulated with birch bark. The 10 x 10 hand hewn rafters are as good as when it was built.

When Dave Williams passed on, he left his house to his son Patrick who has renovated the inside and repaired it all over. Although it is well over the century mark, it doesn't appear to be 50 years old. Mr. Williams has it rented to Frank McMillan, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Yet another house that comes in for attention is the house now owned and occupied by Donald MacKinnon (Big Donnie). This house is situated quite near the highway at Ingonish Ferry. It was built around 1857 for John MacDonald, who was married to Annie Morrison. This house was framed by Murdock MacLeod for $40.00. The rafters which are 10 x 10 inches and wooden pins used were hand hewn by the late Godfrey Barron and Godfrey Hines. These rafters are as sturdy almost as the day in which the house was built. Some of the boards which were sawn from local trees are almost two feet wide. It is also insulated with birch bark. For their labor and carpenter work on this house Mr. MacDonald paid these men with a barrel of corn meal.

The house now owned and occupied by Donnie MacKinnon (Big Donnie) who married Mr. MacDonald's daughter Mary is still as rugged and strong looking as its master who altho he is going on 75 years of age is still hale and full of vim. Mr. MacKinnon is one of the few remaining Scots in this area.

Had 11 Children

Last but not least comes the Donovan homestead, situated as it is at the foot of Mount Franey at Ingonish Centre. It, too, has stood over a century. The house, a large building consisting of eight rooms, was built by Jim Donovan who was married to Catherine Power of Ingonish Harbor. They had a family of 11 children. Mr. Donovan died at the age of 86. He passed the home on to his youngest son Jimmie J., Jimmie J. married Sara Jane Curtis of Ingonish Beach and raised a family of nine children. He was a fisherman by trade and died at the age of 80. His second youngest daughter Mrs. Reginald Peters, (Dora) now owns the old home. A son Herbert also owns part of the land and has his own home on it. Mrs. Peters has done extensive repairs to the Donovan home. Last fall while putting new shingles on one end of it the birch bark used in days gone by for insulating was plainly to be seen. The rafters 10 x 10 inches, hand hewn, were as good as when it was built. Mrs. Peters has installed a bathroom and modernized it in several ways but to the Donovan family who come home from the U.S.A. each summer, it still holds their childhood dreams.

Celebrating for the couple began at 4 p.m. by their attendance with all their family and scores of relatives and friends, at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at St. Peter's Church.

On October 8, 1919, Mr. Donovan took as his bride Mary Ann

Young, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Young. They were united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony by the late Leo J. Keats, Parish Priest here at the time. Their attendants were Herbert Donovan, brother of the groom, and Mrs. Ethel Ross (nee Ethel Curtis). At the celebration on Wednesday the groom's brother was present, while Mrs. Margaret Martin, sister of the bride, acted in Mrs. Ross' absence.

The Anniversary Mass was celebrated by a close friend, Rev. Hector MacDonald, Parish Priest at Heatheton, N.S. During the Mass Father MacDonald, congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Donovan on their long life together and their wonderful family. He then imparted his blessing.

The choir was under the direction of Earle Donovan with music on the guitars rendered by Timothy Donovan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donovan, along with Kevin Donovan, their nephew. Serving as altar boys were Garry Donovan, their grandson, and Richard Doucette. The Altar was decorated with autumn flowers for the occasion.

Following the Mass, a turkey dinner was served in St. John's Hall, Ingonish, with members of the immediate family present.

For the occasion the table was decorated in gold motif with candles and vases of flowers centered by a three tier wedding cake, the gift of the family.

Master of Ceremonies was Rev. Hector MacDonald, who called on Timothy Donovan, their son, to give the toast to the bride of yesteryear. Their son-in-law Michael MacDougall, responded elaborating on the part Mrs. Donovan played as a mother, raising 14 children and, also with this, of her participation in community affairs, starting when she was in her early teens as telegraph operator for many years; then postmistress at Ingonish Beach. Besides these activities she is an active worker in politics. Mr. MacDougall also spoke of Mr. Donovan's characteristics, kindness, cheerfulness and fondness for his family.

An engraved certificate signed by Premier G.I. Smith was also read.

The wedding cake was then cut by the bride and groom and passed around while numerous pictures of the happy couple and their family were taken.

After dinner at the hall a reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. Donovan at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael MacDougall. The MacDougall home presented an attractive appearance with many floral gifts. A white linen cloth graced the dining room table in the centre was a two tier wedding cake.
